NUT BOY'S CAREER

Of all the kaleidoscopic history of any of our old-time trotters, none exceeds that of the varied career of the bay gelding, now called Nut Boy, 2:07 1-2, winner of the first money in the great $9000 Massachusetts stake at Readville, August 24, in 2:09 1-4, enrolling his name in the noted list of winners, who now reads as follows, namely: Quartermaster, Rima, Gratian Boy, Charley Herr, Borama, Onward Silver, Major Delmar, Billy Buch, Consuela S., Sadie Mac and Nut Boy, says the American Horse Breeder. This important distinction he exceeded by winning first money from sixteen contestants in the famous $10,000 Charter Oak stake, September 3, reducing his record to 2:07 1-2, equaling the fastest time for this event made six years since by Georgena by Epulet, 2:19, in 1900. As it has not been beaten the track record for this event is Georgena's 2:07 1-2, because she was the first to make it. Nutpine, the sire of Nut Boy, was the first foal that saw the light of day at John H. Shultz' Parkway farm on Long Island, N. Y. The dam of Nut Boy was Grace Smuggler by Colonel Henry S. Russell's noted Stallion Smuggler. 2:15 1-4, who from 1876 held the trotting stallion record for eight years, in spite of the prophetic boasts of many owners.

Nut Boy was foaled in 1896. He was so rank, erratic and ungovernable in harness that he frequently had to run him against a building to stop him. December 4, 1903, he appeared as Bonaparte in a consignment from W. J. Carter of Richmond, Va., at the Pash-Tipton sale, with the statement that he had shown a half a mile in 1:07, and a quarter in 33 seconds. At this sale he was bought by John H. Shultz, supposing from the appearance that he was buying a mare. Finding his mistake he ordered him resold. He was bought by Paul Connolly of West Philadelphia, Pa. After running away and nearly killing Henry Longstreth, he was put up at a West Philadelphia bazaar, and bought by Eugene Reysenthaler, who did not keep him long, but sold him to Thomas S. Young. He resold to fatten him, cut off his tail, and sell him for a high stepper. He put him upstairs on a second floor where all would be quiet, feeding the horse all he would eat. He tried this for a month, but the gelding worried all of the flesh off of him.

October 3, 1905, Young sold him as Bengaline to William McFarland of West Philadelphia, who got Harry Davis to train him. But he was so headstrong and rank that McFarland became disgusted and sold him at auction as Nut Boy. This was his first appearance under that name. He was purchased by Henry Crossdale, a lumber dealer at Avondale, Pa. Being out in the country where everything was quiet, and being loaded about ten miles a day in a business wagon, Nut Boy became quiet, and at times showed speed. Being in the lumber business and not wishing to enter racing, Crossdale now sold the horse for $500 to George Hindermeyer of Philadelphia, Pa. He drove him out to Belmont Park and asked Stote Clark (who recently drove Klostergess in a race at Readville to a record better than 2:10), to drive Nut Boy a mile over Belmont Park, telling Stote Clark that he was a green horse. He was to drive the first quarter fast, the middle half slow, and the last quarter fast. Stote drove the horse the first quarter in 34 1-2 seconds, the last quarter in 32 1-4 seconds. Upon dismounting, Stote Clark said: "That horse knows a track better than I do, but if you can identify him I will give you $1000 for him." They could not identify him then further than four years. The horse was then nine years old, but they were calling him eight.

He was then taken to C. N. Payne at Polne Breeze. The horse ran away with him three times, getting entirely out of harness once. But Payne kept on training him, and won with him at Allentown, Bethlehem and other places. In the fall of 1905 a stranger to Hindermeyer came to buy the horse and paid Hindermeyer $5000 for him. Upon asking the buyer's name, the answer was: "I got the horse, you have the money." This led some folks to think he was to be used as a ringer. But the buyer was "Jack" Crabtree and the horse is in the stable of Miss Lotta, who hails from Quincy as her home.

IN A GREAT HURRICANE

For eight hours on the way from Japan the tank steamer Ashtabula, arriving yesterday, twenty-one and one-half days from Moji, lay hove to in the mid-ocean riding out a great hurricane that threatened to engulf the big steamer. Strong winds and generally rough weather were encountered all the way, but in latitude 43 degrees 53 minutes north, longitude 141 degrees 10 minutes west a hurricane swooped down from the northwest and it was impossible for the Ashtabula to make headway. She rode out the storm in safety, however, as a result of lying head on to the seas, and arrived here with no apparent damage—Chronicle, Nov. 16.

MY MOUNTAIN

I love you, Mountain, for I fancy now I see your kingly peaks against the sky. Rising in bold magnificence on high. And wonder, thinking of you often, how Those cool clouds feel upon your brow, Feathery and soft and changing as they fly. In swiftest motion, or quiescent lie. Ah! God with beauty did your heights endow; There midst your rocks He and His own sought rest; There prayed He oft, and sorely tempted was; And there with His own hand were written laws By which our world has ever since been blessed: Yet on your side, O Mountain! Christ was slain! Honolulu, Oct. 17, 1906.

MASKS.

(To Julia Marlowe) Lights and music and tears. And Tragedy's Mask o'er all. Yet our smiles hold sway throughout the play. We laugh at the Curtain's fall. Lights and music and song. And Comedy's Mask o'er all. Yet there's never a heart but plays its part. With tears 'til the Curtain's fall.

—Annie Peacock, in Theatre Magazine.

Mr. Georges Claretie, in a recent number of Le Figaro, says the editor of Transatlantic Tales in the November number of that magazine, compares Pierre Loti's admirable romance, "The Iceland Fisherman" with Kipling's "Captains Courageous." Both books have the same theme and both are masterpieces. M. Claretie calls attention to the coincidence that some years ago a story was written by one Mme. Laure Bernard, and the hero of this romance like that of Kipling, is a young man who sets forth to learn something of life among the fishermen of Newfoundland. Strange to say, her hero's name is Harvey.

UNHAPPINESS DISPELLED.

Men and Women Unanimous About It. Many women weep and wail and refuse to be comforted because their once magnificent tresses have become thin and faded. Many men incline to profanity because the flies bite through the thin thatch of their craniums. It will be good news to the miserable of both sexes, to learn that Newbro's Herpicide has been placed upon the market. This is the new scalp germicide and antiseptic that acts by destroying the germ or microbe that is the underlying cause of all hair destruction. Herpicide is a new preparation, made after a new formula on an entirely new principle. Anyone who has tried it will testify as to its worth. Try it yourself and be convinced. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Hollister Drug Co., special agents.

NO DANGER OF TROUBLE

Tokio, Nov. 17.—Viscount Hayashi, Japanese Minister of Foreign Affairs, when interviewed by delegates from the Constitutional and Progressive parties in reference to the trouble with the School Board of San Francisco, explained that the views of the American authorities at Washington and the Government of Japan were in perfect accord on the subject.

He trusted that a satisfactory settlement would be made in time by evoking article VI of the Constitution of the United States, and assured the delegates that there was no danger of any injury to the traditional friendship of both countries.

A Shave Day

The average English gentleman, and many of other nationalities, will not be content without shaving every morning. Objections have been made to the annoyances which follow such frequent attention to the face. With a GILLETTE SAFETY RAZOR there is no unpleasant after-effect for the reason that the blade is always keener than in an ordinary razor. We have the Gillette and the extra blades as a Christmas thought.
